Guards Rescue Trio From Surf

Three men were injured, one seriously, Saturday afternoon when a light boat capsized just off Torrance Beach.

Receiving serious injuries was 70-year-old Al Hall, of 2201 Ruhland, Redondo Beach. Lifeguards said Hall apparently hit the boat's windshield as he was thrown out. He suffered a possible broken leg, broken ribs, and several cuts on his right hand.

Receiving a three-inch cut over his eye and other head cuts was Ed Joyce, 65, of 2211 Vorhees, Redondo Beach.

Don Shoemaker, 35, of 2117 Warfield, Redondo, was reported suffering from shock.

Motor Falls
Witnesses said the boat apparently was without power because of motor failure. It drifted toward the beach, was caught in a high wave, and flipped.

Lifeguards Toby Erlinger, George Chalekson, Herman Friend, and Dick Garrett raced into the surf and brought the trio to shore. After first aid was administered, the victims were taken to Harbor General Hospital.

Police Chiefs Meet

Southern California police chiefs think abolishment of the death sentence in California would lessen the effectiveness of laws against such capital crimes as murder and kidnaping.

Abolishment of the death sentence was formally opposed by the more than 60 chiefs who met here Thursday to discuss that and other mutual problems.

In discussions led by Harold Sillette, acting chief of the late Attorney General's Criminal Identification and Investigation Bureau, the chiefs of Los Angeles, Ventura, and Santa Barbara counties indicated that the death sentence was a strong deterrent to crime.

Automobile Burns

A car reported missing by a Torrance man Thursday night was found gutted by fire near the intersection of Doris Way and Vanderhill Rd. by Torrance firemen.

Walter Floyd Converse, 37, 3715 W. 224th St., told sheriff's deputies that a man came into Lennox Motors in Lennox and asked to drive the 1953 car to see if he would like to buy it. The man didn't return, Converse said.

Child Falls, Dies

The death of Larry David White, 3, who died of injuries received when he fell off a bed at the home of a baby sitter, was attributed to a bilateral subdural hemorrhage, according to the County Coroner.

The little boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack White, 4101 W. 183rd St., died Thursday night in Hawthorne Hospital 26 hours after the accident, which occurred at the home of a woman baby sitter at 4006 W. 183rd St.

Teacher Arrested

Torrance school officials expressed surprise at the disclosure that a Waverly School sixth grade teacher was wanted for passing some $2600 in bad checks in the San Gabriel Valley area.

Lewis Kemp Carrel, 27, 21505 Ocean Ave., was no relation to Lewis Carroll, author of "Alice in Wonderland," but some of his adventures sounded like that famed book, Inglewood police reported. He was picked up at the school Thursday and booked on forgery and burglary charges, but was transferred to Pasadena for prosecution.

Knight Hails Press

Declaring they offer a unique service to their readers, unavailable through any other medium, Governor Goodwin Knight praised the role of community newspapers such as The HERALD in an address Wednesday evening before members of the Controlled Circulation Unit, South, of the California Newspaper Publishers' Assn.

Governor and Mrs. Knight were guests of the group at its annual Governor's Night dinner in the Ambassador Hotel.

SIDE VIEW OF ROTARY COLOR PRESS . . . to be installed in the plant of The HERALD. Known as a "decker" type press, the complicated equipment actually is three 16-page rotary presses, in one. Elaborate modifications have been made to provide great flexibility in sectional and color reproduction. In "straight-out" runs, the press is capable of producing up to 500 complete newspapers per minute and is expected to serve the needs of The HERALD for many years to come. Foundations and work of installation are expected to take three months.

"BUSINESS" END OF HERALD'S NEW PRESS—View of delivery end of press where papers are ejected, folded and counted ready for delivery to circulation room. The press is fed from 64-inch rolls of newsprint. Two publications of 32 pages each could be printed simultaneously and delivered separately. Maximum capacity is 64 pages standard-size newspapers or 128 pages tabloid.

Other Projects Being Planned

needs of The HERALD but those of the future. Newsprint availability was a factor in the considerations and various types of equipment were carefully inspected and considered from the standpoint of the flexibility. Finally, the Goss decker-type press was chosen because it seemed to meet all of the demands that will be made on it for many years to come. Actually, the massive equipment is four 16-page presses in one equipped with two folders. Two 32-page publications could be printed simultaneously and folded and delivered separately.

It replaces two 16-page straightline presses that were installed by the late Grover C. Whyte when the former publisher moved into his new building at 1619 Gramercy Ave., in late 1948.

Other improvements in the drawing board stage include rearrangement and additions to the present composing room equipment with a view to giving best possible service to HERALD customers.

Frankenberg Raised to Division Manager for Jim Dandy Markets

Promotion of Walter M. Frankenberg as division manager of Jim Dandy Stores in Los Angeles was announced today by Gerald A. Aves, president of Lucky Stores, Inc.

Frankenberg relieves William H. Dyer Jr., who at the same time was appointed divisional manager of the 44-store group of Lucky Stores in the San Francisco Bay Area. Both appointments will take effect on June 1.

Frankenberg, 42, is married and has two daughters and first entered the grocery business in 1930. He later joined Dollar Markets of Long Beach in 1942, and shortly thereafter became a supervisor and subsequently personnel manager of that company. With the merger of Dollar Markets and Jim Dandy in 1952, he was appointed district manager and has been in charge of store operations since.

Dyer is a director and vice president of Lucky Stores, and until his new appointment, was general manager of the Jim Dandy stores, the Los Angeles of Lucky Stores, Inc. He became affiliated with Lucky Stores when it acquired the Jim Dandy chain in Los Angeles early in 1956.

Dyer, 39, graduated from Long Beach City College, attended UCLA, is married and has two sons. He first entered the grocery business in 1936. Following five years' service as a naval officer during World War II, Dyer was employed as general manager of the Dollar Markets, later renamed Jim Dandy Stores. He is a director of the Food Employer's Council of Los Angeles and a member of the Clerks and Butchers Negotiating Committee. He is also a vice president and member of the executive committee of the National Association of Food Chains.

NEW THRIFTMART STORE . . . Ground breaking ceremonies for a new $500,000, 22,000-square-foot Thriftmart supermarket at the corner of Western Ave. and Palos Verdes Dr. North were held yesterday morning. The market and an adjoining Owl Rexall drugstore will be open to the public in about five months, officials said. Shown are Leon Briley and Ernest W. Hahn, general contractors; Cecil R. Moss, LeMoss Construction Co.; W. E. Eldridge, vice president, Thriftmart; Lloyds Osgood, superintendent of engineering, and Don B. Conroy, advertising manager.

FIRST NIGHTERS . . . Among the opening night crowd at Accent Theatre's "Stalag 17" production Thursday were Mrs. Allen Pyeat, Kathleen Freeman of the Gallery and Ring theatres, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Sears, and William Boswell. The first night crowd was enthusiastic over the outstanding talent displayed by the local theatre group.
